Count the number of a, b, c and d's you have circled. Then check out your reading personality BELOW.

Most of a's To you, reading is boring and a waste of time. You have no pleasure in reading and you'd rather watch a film based on a book than read the book itself. You never go to the library because it is no pleasure walking along the shelves. It is difficult for you to read books for your studies. You have a series of good excuses not to finish a book.

Most of c's You read quite regularly and quite a lot. You tend to have read all the books on your bookshelf, even though there are not many. You read mainly when you have to: this is to say that you read what you must read for school. You don't read much more, but that's fine with you.

Most of b's You would love to read more. Indeed you are very enthusiastic but unfortunately, you do not read a lot. You easily lose your concentration and your motivation. Your attention gets focused on any other distraction there is around you. You find it difficult to choose a book because you are not easily satisfied. While reading, you tend to day dream and think about anything else.

Most of d's You love reading. You are a real book worm. You spend most of your time reading. You will read anything, anytime, provided you can dive into a good story. You cannot put down a book because you just have to know what happens at the end even though you do not really enjoy it. You have read all the books on your bookshelf which in on the verge of collapsing under weight.

② Listen to Sarah and take notes! Get ready to recap.

FINAL TASK: Present yourself as a reader!

- ☞ Talk about yourself as far as books and reading are concerned. (1' to 3')
- ☞ Record yourself. You must speak naturally and make people want to listen to you.

OR

Write a text and illustrate it

- ☞ Post your recording onto the class Padlet - <https://fr.padlet.com/flocri/4LCEBOOKREVIEW>
